ARMADA

Of interest to this district was the wedding on August 26 in the First Baptist Church, Calgary, of Grace, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Chambers, to Stanley Marks, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Marks. The bride was lovely in a street length dress of blue wool with three-quarter length sleeves. The witnesses included the bride's mother, Mrs. S. Chambers, and sister, Miss Gladys Chambers of Nelson, B.C., and the groom's two sisters, Mrs. Doris Vail and Mrs. Phyllis Beaumont, both of Calgary. A small reception was held in the Empress Hotel after the ceremony. The young couple are now residing at Armada.

A very lovely shower was held in the Armada community hall on Sept. 6 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Marks, who were recently married. Dancing to the music of Howell Fraser and Shafer was enjoyed until midnight, when lunch was served and the happy couple were presented with a nicely decorated table of useful gifts for their home. Mr. and Mrs. Marks thanked everyone for their gifts and thoughtfulness.

Harvesting has been progressing favorably and in a week's time all the combining should be done except for the odd field of flax and some threshing. The crops are yielding all the way from 3 and 4 bushels per acre on hilled land to 25 and 30, and this is extra good for this district.

BERRYWATER

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a light blue gabardine suit, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Miss Katherine Cameron, bridesmaid, wore a dark brown suit with light accessories. Her corsage was of pale yellow roses. Mr. John Arnold, cousin of the groom was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for thirty guests in the Lower Sky Room. The toast to the bride was proposed by Father Lynett, to which the groom responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus left for Banff, where they spent their honeymoon. For travelling the bride wore her wedding-ensemble topped with a matching blue coat. The young couple will reside in Edmonton where the groom will attend the University of Alberta.

recently at the home of Mrs. C. McIntyre.

Various committees making arrangements for the Annual Night reported the Amateur Contests is arranged in four classes of: first, vocal; second, instrumental; third, elocution; and fourth, miscellaneous. With two age groups in each class, being: Juniors 1 to 12; Seniors 12 and over. Will those wishing to take part please contact Mrs. Reg Stein or Mrs. Ed Richardson. District wheat yields are averaging on stubbled in crops 10-15 bushels to the acre and on summer-fallow 20 to 30 bushels.

Report Shows Big Surplus For Alberta Government

The Alberta government ended its fiscal year of 1946-47 on March 31 with an overall surplus of more than six million, instead of the anticipated deficit of over three million. In the later three month period from April 1 to June 30 there is an over-all cash surplus of almost four million.

Liquor profits yielded $9,718,034, the highest in the board's history, compared with an estimate of $6,000,000.

Officials point out that one reason for the financial showing of the province being so much better than had been expected was the great gain in liquor profits, exceeding estimates by more than $3,718,000.

From the gasoline and fuel oil tax, the province took in $5,403,921, which was $903,921 in excess of the estimate. Motor car and truck licences produced $3,549,821.

Operations of the Alberta Government Telephones for the 1946-47 fiscal year resulted in a surplus of $1,207,397 which was transferred to deficit account. This was an increase of $538,346 over the previous year.

At March 31, the net funded and unfunded debt of the province amounted to $144,966,823, a net decrease of $1,252,940.

Net cost to the province of the debt reorganization program, exclusive of debt redemption and new borrowings, as far as could be ascertained at March 31 last, was put at $15,140,698.

On capital account, expenditures amounted to $6,591,128 and re-

FIRST PEACETIME ATOMIC PLANT

Perhaps one of history's momentous occasions is this beginning of the construction of North America's first peacetime atomic energy plant on a 6,000-acre tract at Brookhaven, L.I. At the controls of the huge power shovel as it dug the first scoopful of earth for the foundation excavation of the pile building, is Dr. Lyle Borst, atomic pile authority of Brookhaven laboratory. The laboratory will be operated on a non-profit basis by nine eastern universities under sanction of the U.S. atomic energy commission.

Rain and Snow Delay Harvest; Estimated Over Half Completed

Scattered showers and generally cool, damp weather brought harvesting operations in this district to a stop Monday evening. North of town, the odd combine was working Tuesday morning, but an hour-long shower Tuesday, noon was fairly general over the district.

Snow started to fall early Wednesday morning and by Thursday noon fields were covered by over four inches of wet snow.

The harvest is an estimated 65 percent completed. There is very little standing grain, most farmers finding it necessary to swath to avoid heavy losses from wheat-stem sawfly.

Two weeks of good weather would see the harvest pretty well cleaned up in this district.

More than $1,200,000 has been spent by Southern Alberta veterans in building or acquiring new homes. This amount is in return for the same purpose.

Moscow is celebrating its 80th anniversary as a city, and has extended invitations to Mayors the world over. Mayor Lewis of Ottawa may go. Mayor Bracewell of London regrets that the invitation didn't come in time. The Mayor of Paris will go, but Mayor O'Dwyer of New York can't get away.

Reid Hill W.I. Hears M.L.A.

Mrs. John McRoberts was hostess to the September meeting of the Reid Hill W.I. held at her home Thursday, the 11th. There were 17 members and 4 visitors in attendance. Mrs. D. Thomas was chairman. In the absence of Mrs. L. Munson, the secretary, Mrs. F. Mensinger was acting secretary for the meeting.

Roll call was answered by each member giving some canning hint. Letters of appreciation for cards sent to the sick and bereaved were read.

As a means to raising funds it was decided that the branch would cater to the Edginton auction sale, to be held some time in October. A "White Elephant" sale will be held by the members at their October meeting.

As Mrs. Munson, who has been secretary for this year, expects to shortly leave the district she had requested that someone be named to replace her until the annual meeting. This Mrs. McRoberts very kindly agreed to do.

After the business session was completed the meeting was turned over to Rev. Peter Dawson, M.L.A., who addressed the ladies on changes in legislation during the past year. He touched on Child Welfare, Automobile Insurance, Old Age Pensions, the new Citizenship Registration cards, Nursing and the training of new nurses, work being done in the Mental Institutions and many other highly interesting subjects. A hearty vote of thanks was given the speaker at the conclusion of his address.

The tea raffle was won by Mrs. L. Palmer. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. L. Healy and Mrs. R. Adams. Five members whose birthdays occurred either in August (in which month no meeting was held) or September were honored with the serving of a special birthday cake and presented with a token of good wishes. Mrs. Sales was the only member in attendance of the five. She thanked her friends for their good wishes.

Edmonton Coach To Visit Here

Gordon Higginson, coach of the provincial and dominion championship track and field team, the Edmonton Polar Bears, and former chief supervisor of recreation for the city of Edmonton, will spend a week of his holidays in Vulcan with his friend, Pat Walker, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Walker. Pat is one of Gordie's star seniors on the Polar Bear team.

An enthusiastic young sportsman, Mr. Higginson is gaining country-wide recognition in this field and has just been featured over the CBC News Roundup. He is now completing a speaking tour on "What are We Doing with Our Youths?"

More than 50,000 tons of U.S. military equipment has been sent to Greece in support of President Truman's anti-Communist program. In addition the Greeks will get shipments of food.

Withdraw Motion Regarding Inter-town Sunday Activities

Policy on Sponsoring Sunday Activities Will Be Decided At November General Meeting

At executive meeting of the Vulcan and District Cultural and Athletic Association, held on Sept. 10th, a motion was passed withdrawing the motion dealing with Sunday inter-community activities that had been passed at a previous directors' meeting. (The original motion referred to stated that the Association would not sponsor inter-community activities of any kind on Sundays.) In withdrawing the motion, it was stated that sponsoring of inter-community activities on Sundays is a matter of policy and should be decided at a public meeting, and therefore this subject would be brought up at the annual general meeting in November.

Receive Reports

J. L. Findlay, as chairman of the health and recreation committee, gave a favorable report on the progress made by his committee and outlined the different activities which will be sponsored. Arrangements are under way for securing the services of a fancy skating instructor this winter.

The cultural activities committee of J. Majakey and Rev. Rolis is making satisfactory progress on its program, it was reported.

It was decided to appoint a committee to investigate the matter of constructing a proper sports ground and facilities for such activities as track and field meets, with a report to be made at the annual general meeting.

A motion was passed that a list of memberships and donations be published in the Advocate as soon as possible.

Country Elevator Wheat Price

The Canadian Wheat Board has announced that until further notice sales of Board wheat at country elevators will be made at $1.58 1/4 a bushel, basis 1 northern, less the freight rate to Fort William or Vancouver, whichever is the lower.

To this price the regular diversion premium will be added, which is 1-5/8c per bushel in the case of 1, 2 and 3 northern; 2-1/7c on 4 northern and all other grades including durum, garnets or Alberta red winters, with an additional 1/2c per bushel on all grades of tough wheat.

U.F.A. and A.F.U. Merger in Sight

Probable merging of the U.F.A. and A.F.U. with the Alberta Federation of Agriculture are considered hopeful.

Last year the three organizations were coming close to an understanding when the A.F.U. went on a delivery strike, with other farm organizations withholding any direct action. This antagonized the A.F.U. but more recently there is a renewed effort to bring the merger into being.

Later in the season the three organizations will be having an-

The many friends of Mrs. Jack Denbigh, nee Marjorie Lommatach, will regret to learn she suffered severe injuries to her right hand recently. Mrs. Denbigh, who has aided her father in the operation of the Sunny Alberta Fox Farm for many years, was chopping meat for the animals on the farm near Millarville, when her hand became caught in the grinder. Further details are not at present available, but Mrs. Denbigh is confined to the Holy Cross hospital, Calgary.

Here Since 1906, District Pioneer Will Retire Soon

One of the pioneer residents of this district, William E. Myers is retiring this fall and, with Mrs. Myers, will take up residence in Edmonton to be near their son, Gordon.

An early settler in the Reid Hill district, Mr. Myers took up a homestead in 1906 on part of what is now known as the Warner farm. He purchased the place he has been occupying from the late J. F. Shofner in 1913, and has been farming it ever since. Part of Mr. Myers' farm was the homestead of the late John Base, who came into the district in 1905. Mr. Myers has now sold his farm to Boyd McKay.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers are not completely severing connections with the Reid Hill district, as they have retained part of their land and rented it to Mr. McKay. The best wishes of their many friends in the district will go with them when they move to their new home in Edmonton.

Shower For Recent Bride

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Howard Foster on Sept. 7th in honor of Mrs. Howard Marcellus (nee Leona Spanke).

After an amusing contest a gaily covered wagon laden with many beautiful and useful gifts was wheeled into the room by Ronald Foster and Donald Houlton, dressed as a little bride and groom. Assisting the bride in unwrapping the gifts was the bride's mother and Miss Teresa Foster. The guest of honor then thanked the ladies present in a few well chosen words.

The afternoon ended with a dainty lunch served by the hostesses, Mrs. Howard Foster and Mrs. Tom Houlton, assisted by Mrs. Foster Sr.

annual meetings and it is expected that some definite recommendations will come out of the conventions.

School News

There are a number of high school students still out of classes, working in the harvest fields. It is hoped that they will soon finish harvesting, as school goes on every day.

The Students Union held their first meeting on Sept. 10, with Ralph Walker acting as chairman and Maurven Wolfe as secretary. Officers were nominated as follows:

President: Ralph Walker, Arthur Chell.
Secretary: Betty Hils, Elinor Hyslip.
Treasurer: Clara Love, Jim Hyslip, Glen Gorbous.
Pianist: Maurven Wolfe.

The candidates delivered their election speeches on September 15 and elections will take place this coming Monday.

New students attending school from out of town include: Bill Taylor, Vauxhall, Grade 11; Darrell Maisev, Kirkcaldy, Grade 10; Shirley Mix and Henry Kaiser, Reid Hill, Grade 12; Richard Kenny, Alliance, Grade 7.

The new head man at an insane asylum was trying to convince an inmate that he was not Napoleon. "I know dern well I'm Napoleon!" "Who told you so?" "God did!" "Come a voice from the next bunk: 'I did not!'"

"MIRACLE" GIRL

Two years ago, Doana Hartt, young Australian ballet dancer, was so seriously burned in a dressing room fire at a Sydney theatre that no hope was held for her recovery. Now she is on a world tour with her mother. When she reaches the United States, she plans a visit to the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., for treatment that may restore use to her leg muscles, which have atrophied during her long illness.

HAPPY SCHOOL READERS

SOMETIMES we think the world is getting better. Oftener we think it's getting worse. But one point must be admitted on the credit side. The school readers are immensely superior to the readers of forty or fifty years ago. The old readers dripped with gore, with good deeds unrewarded and with unhappy endings. Nowadays the little folk in the early grades are introduced to reading through gay and vigorous little stories. And as they progress to higher grades, no horrors await them. Life is presented as a happy, humorous, constructive experience. The world of nature is an ally and a playmate, the world of man is kindly and protecting. Not one gulping, ghastly deathbed scene, no prolonged agony. Apparently it is the modern belief that our juveniles should enjoy life, should respond to sunshine and with the wind in the trees, to good health and laughter. The school readers bear this out.

Only those people who are growing elderly in years can appreciate this contrast in class books. When the present-day grandparents started to school they were brought face to face with life in the raw and no one thought to spare them.

At about eight years of age they had advanced to the second reader and were plunged head on into "The Babes in the Woods." From then on they sniffed and sobbed their way through succeeding years. At the age of ten by way of the old Third Reader they moved through a welter of disaster from which they emerged permanently red-eyed and pessimistic.

The Third Book started with the tale of the White ship, which sailed forth with light-hearted revellers, and was wrecked and "out of all that gallant company, the poor butcher of Rouen alone was saved." On page after page unrelieved tragedy reared its head, always at least one to die and one left lament-

ing. There was a succession of marine disasters. Little girls in particular were wiped out in pursuit of duty. When Mary went to call the cattle home across the sands o' Dee, "the creeping mists came up and o'er the lands and never home came she." Mabel little Mabel, with face against the pane, and supper all waiting for her fisherman father and lover, saw "two bodies stark and white, ah so ghastly in the light." Little Lucy with the lantern in her hand went out after faggots and never came home. There was the little girl who lived in a graveyard and said "Six of us in the churchyard lie. But we are seven." There was Lord Ullins' daughter, who "when the waters wild went o'er his child and he was left lamenting."

The slaughter of armies and mass killings was somehow less poignant than individual deaths and the compilers were cunningly aware of this. So they had a trick of prolonging one single death over pages of reading. There was the child who lay for months with no company but a star. The May Queen got steadily weaker for five pages before she finally succumbed.

With these object lessons little girls could scarcely expect to reach maturity, and little boys also shared in the terrible fates. They were continually dashing round on important errands and dropping dead when the job was done.

The great lesson impressed by those readers was that one could not count on anything except perhaps some inward power of endurance which made death just one of those things. Terrors lurked by flood and field to pluck the faithful or unwary from the scene o' life. The more noble and obedient a child, the greater his chances of early demise. And parents seemed bent on throwing children into the most ghastly situations. Adults themselves, it may be noted, escaped fairly lightly.

These are a mere handful of the tragedies that emerge in recalling the readers of long ago. And before that, children were brought up on still more gruesome diet. One primer of 75 years ago started "Our days begin with trouble here, our life is but a span, and cruel death is always near, so frail a thing is man."

Riffling through the pages of the modern readers, one closes the books with the heartening assurance that selections have been chosen admirably, and there are practically no deaths. It is true that here and there a knight may fall on his sword, but that is only to be expected amongst those who insist on playing with swords. In the rare recitals of battle or conflict one may note the use of the word "dead." But there is no prolonged savoring of the final state. It is dismissed with crispness and brevity, in favor of happier themes. Children really should be looking forward to life, and a happy life at that.

in this period of stress with a labor party in power? It is true he is trying to get coal miners not only to avoid strikes but to work harder, but they can remember what he used to tell them before he became a minister. Shinwell is not his real name, but neither are Stalin and Molotov the names of his real leaders.

And why should anyone be surprised that they struck in spite of Mr. Horner's order not to strike? Mr. Horner is a Communist and they remember what he used to say, they know too that their acts will not be censured by his masters in Moscow. Mr. Horner is the secretary of the Coal Miner's Union who predicted not long ago that in the event of war with Russia the miners would strike. In the absence of a shooting war, what they are doing now is softening their own country to the point where she may succumb.

Of all the estimates put in by the Big Five as to the size of the police force needed by the United Nations to enforce peace, Russia's is the lowest. Quite naturally and logically too. Law breakers never were partial to large police forces, and it is only in this mad world that they would be asked to state what size they would prefer. It must be a constant puzzle for the criminal underworld to determine what the devil these peace-makers mean by thus collaborating with the peace-breakers.

The U.S.S.R. has made other nations do the queerest things. It has compelled them to ask in all seriousness that question which after long delay it has just now answered, though all of them regard Russia as the sole disturber of public peace and the one country likely to plunge the world once more into war. Unlike other answers from the same source, that one can be accepted as sincere.

Being the only misdemeanor of consequence, a small force will suit her purposes, and doubtless she would not object to contribute the whole police force herself, for that matter. The poor old U.N. organization had, for nearly two years, to listen to arguments and protestations from Soviet Russia and its satellites that a juvenile debating society would have hissed into silence and shame.

It must have irked General Marshall who is not a party man to have to do a political chore for the Democrats by asking the British government to reconsider its decision to send the Exodus 1947 refugees to Hamburg. He had to do the bidding of the President who last year asked Britain to admit 100,000 Jews per annum into Palestine. He was urged by Britain not to do so, but the November elections were coming on, and he feared the Republicans would get in ahead of him and capture the Jewish vote. They didn't get in ahead of him, but Dewey came in a moment later with the question "why 100,000? Why not 200,000?" By raising the ante he got so substantial a Hebrew vote that it defeated a Democratic Hebrew, ex-Governor of New York, who was considered an unbeatable candidate for a seat in the Senate.

Neither the President nor the New York Governor has any sympathy with the methods used to smuggle European Jews into Palestine, but both are interested in the American Jew vote, which is almost unanimously behind the Irgun and Stern gangs. Governor Dewey who, as district attorney, made a name for himself prosecuting evil-doers must have had a good idea of the setup of those gangs and the "philanthropists" who finance them. If Lefty Louie and Gyp the Blood were still alive they would be eager to do the bidding of the men who hire killers and kidnappers now to carry on their crusade in the Holy Land and on the high seas.

Fear of American opinion accounts for the feebleness of British action toward illegal refugees running Palestine-ward: It was a weak weakness to promise priority to refugees transported to Cyprus, instead of telling them that attempts at illegal entry would deprive them of any place in the quota. Besides being encouragement to refugee-running, it was discouragement to those who were patiently waiting their turn.

Greenland appears to be a military dependency of United States, although Denmark suggested last spring that U.S.A. might withdraw wartime basis. But Greenland is within the western hemisphere and would have to be defended by the North American countries.

Cultivating Fall Stubble

(Lethbridge Station)
The values of early fall cultivation of stubble is appreciated by many farmers and it is likely that more stubble than ever will be cultivated this fall. If such a practice is contemplated it is important to cultivate as soon as possible after harvesting the crop.

At this time weeds are small and can be killed before they have removed valuable moisture from the soil. The germination of weed seeds is also facilitated. By breaking up the soil surface fall rains can penetrate more easily.

The sooner rain soaks into the soil below the 4 inch surface layer the better. Once moisture enters the sub-soil it is removed almost wholly by plant growth, very little being subject to loss by evaporation.

It should be remembered that stubble from this year's crop is expected to furnish protection against soil drifting for the ensuing eighteen months. Therefore extreme care is necessary to avoid undue deterioration of the stubble in performing the fall operation.

Blade cultivators have proven to be most satisfactory for this work since the stubble is left in an upright position. The one-way disc can be used if a blade cultivator is not available. To avoid undue destruction of stubble numerous experiments show that the one-way disc does best work at 3 1/2 miles per hour and at a depth of about 3 inches.

The effective storage of moisture in the soil is of extreme importance in areas of limited precipitation. However, it is in these same areas that the greatest need exists for soil drifting control. The careful farmer can usually attain both objectives.

Packing Plant Workers Strike

Over 7000 men employed in meat packing factories of Canada were out on strike on Sept. 12.

Burns & Co. Ltd. packing plant were the last to strike, joining action of Swift Canadian and Canada Packers.

The Union demand upon all three companies is for a basic minimum wage of 92 cents an hour—a concession that would entail an increase of approximately 17 cents an hour. Swift Canadian has offered to boost wages by three cents an hour, Canada Packers and Burns and Company by five cents. A union campaign last year for a wage increase of 25 cents an hour ended in a negotiated settlement on the basis of 10 cents an hour higher pay.

A rattlesnake was discovered in the Elbow Park district of Calgary on Thursday.

Hail damage in the west this year has been between 30 million and 40 million. Alberta had damage estimated at 20 million.

Almost half the population of Canada is employed, women making up more than 20% of the total.

Sir Norman Birkett told the Canadian-Bar Association that the Nurnburg trials constitute a stern and solemn warning to all who would attempt to do what the Nazis tried to do. One would naturally think so, but what effect is the warning having on Hitler's former associates, Stalin and his gang. None whatever. They fully expect that after the next war they will be the judges and the executioners, and they have friends in America who encourage them to think so.

Why should anyone think that because Mr. Shinwell is minister of Fuel in the Attlee government, the coal miners would refrain from strikes and canny tactics

Alberta Phone System Pays Maintenance Costs

In the publication of the 1946-47 annual financial report of the Alberta government it was shown that the telephone service showed a surplus of over one million dollars.

The Lethbridge Herald editorially traces the history of this government owned facility since the birth of the province. In 1908 the Liberal government of that date purchased the system from the Bell Telephone Company. The sale was made for $883,000 and only exchanges of Edmonton and Red Deer were not included.

Then came the period of expansion with new settlement and a big program of rural construction. Since rural lines were not used as much as town lines the rural service was just $1.25 a month. This was not enough to cover the overhead and service and for years the government service operated at a loss.

After experts had studied the situation for years, the rural telephone service was written off and ten million dollars of the government telephone system cost was absorbed into general debt. At that time the lines were sold at ridiculously low figure to the farm groups forming a mutually owned telephone service. These rural telephone companies have carried on at very small cost, maintaining this necessary connection.

"But," says the Lethbridge Herald, "the amputation of the rural lines from the government-owned system has made the rural service in Alberta an orphan."

"Generally speaking, the rural service is not satisfactory because of lack of maintenance. Rural lines are out of order altogether too much, and that is largely because the mutual systems cannot afford or do not afford the necessary inspection and maintenance service."

"Here we would like to suggest that, for the sake of telephone service in the Province generally, there should be some liaison between the Alberta Government Telephone system and the mutual rural telephone companies in an effort to train men in the rural area to look after the lines. We think it could be done with a little encouragement and a little training. Poor rural telephone service reflects on the Alberta Government Telephone system which built the rural lines in the first place."

For aged people the Army maintains Sunset Lodges and Eventide Homes for aged men and women.

There is also great need of work amongst ex-service men and their families, and the Army is busy with this aftermath of war.

In all these fields of social service, and in many others, the Army is unceasingly active, giving of its resources for the salvage of human beings. But maintenance is a tremendous expense, and to cover financial needs, the annual campaign is held. This is one of the worthiest causes for which money can be given.

Arrowwood Atom Buster

Grades V and VI in the Arrowwood school are in the news business in a large way. They publish a monthly periodical called the "Arrowwood Atom Buster" under the supervision of Mrs. Deeter. It runs along during the school year, and is a most attractive collection of reading matter and illustrations. August issue has been sent to the Times as a sample copy.

The coverage includes district news, all items nicely assembled and well expressed, with note of visitors to the district, new cars, trucks, community parties and such events of interest.

There is a section devoted to school affairs and to a O.P.Q.R. club (which means "orderly, punctual, quiet, regular"). A correspondent tells of the Vacation Bible school, and there is space for poetry and other special features. Jokes and a quiz page make a well rounded paper.

The young people have been quite successful in gathering and assembling advertisements and have good patronage amongst Arrowwood business people.

Altogether it is a publication reflecting great credit on the pupils of Grades V and VI and their teacher.

Arson is suspected in the fire which destroyed the Avenue Coffee shop in Calgary.

Why These Embargoes?

With our supply of American dollars vanishing this is no time for embargoes on agricultural products to the United States, argues The Financial Post.

"We have what amounts to a virtual embargo on all meat livestock shipments to the United States. We have almost as stringent restrictions on the export of most livestock feeds. In one way and another, too, Ottawa curtails the natural flow southward of a lot of other farm and food products, which we could spare and which American would be glad to buy in large quantities. These restrictions grew up during the war years."

"Removal of export restrictions, might temporarily disrupt some of our export to Great Britain and it would most certainly upset some domestic retail prices. But many of these, in the meat line especially, are fictitious anyway, only possible through a complicated system of feed subsidies, bonuses and other government help. Eventually as taxpayers, we foot the bill."

"In the meantime these artificially low prices are encouraging a lot of us to eat up a surplus we used to sell to the United States and, judged by actual current shipments, they are not resulting in any more food getting to Great Britain."

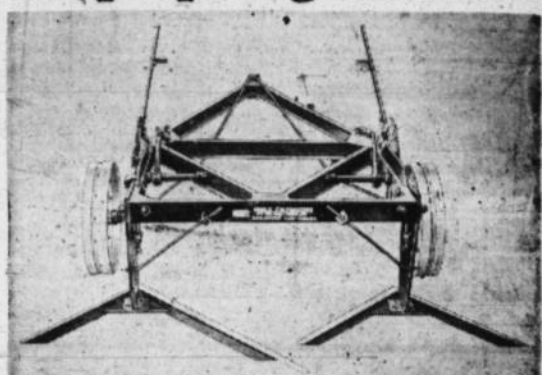

"A more realistic price and export policy would stimulate greater production and after all that is what counts most in the world today."

Pigeon-Holed

(MacLeod Gazette)

While the war was still in progress, a survey under the direction of the provincial government was made to ascertain the volume of goods of various kinds, mainly manufactured articles such as furniture, electrical appliances, motor cars, house building material and many other things, which the people of the province planned buying when the war ended and manufacturers turned from munitions to the needs of peace.

Considerable effort was put into the survey, volunteer canvassers under local Boards of Trade doing the spadework in securing required information from individuals.

Noble Cultivators,
NOBLEFORD, ALBERTA.
Gentlemen:

I covered every acre of my land last fall with the blade cultivator and am very well satisfied with the results so far. A lot of weeds were started, and I also notice this spring that the pot holes are not filled with water as they were other years and the way the neighbors' fields are this year.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) WALTER KARPAN.

In addition to conserving winter moisture, fall blading kills late ripening weeds before they seed. Mustard and stinkweed seed is started much more than in unworked land, and can be killed with the first spring stroke.

Red Shield Appeal Sept. 15

Starting Monday, Sept. 15, the Salvation Army will make its annual Red Shield appeal for the Home Front. The objective for this district is $1200, and the area includes High River, Nanton, Turner Valley and Okotoks.

The following are acting in the local organization: Ivan Csej, M. L.A., chairman; H. Wright, treasurer; Captain Arkinstall, campaign director; C. A. Clark publicity convener.

"The Understanding Heart and the Human Touch" is well described as the spirit of the Salvation Army, and the funds to be realized from the coming appeal will be spent in alleviating conditions for unfortunate people in all parts of Canada.

Misfortune may come in scores of ways. It may be the fault of the individual whom the Salvation Army is seeking to help. It may come upon innocent children and guiltless families. It may come through sickness or age. For every phase of human suffering the Salvation Army seeks to provide solace and comfort, and eventual cure.

There are 19 Men's Hostels in Canada where needy men are tea and clothed. Work is provided where possible and effort is made to direct lives along useful happy lines.

For girls who have wandered astray and are paying the penalty the Salvation Army has three Receiving homes, and eleven Maternity Homes. These provide a sanctuary for young women in difficulty, and contact is maintained in order that they may return as happy members of society.

The Salvation Army also maintains several general hospitals of high standard and on reasonable terms, with the general public admitted for treatment.

Through the Salvation Army's world-wide network of communication, it is possible to locate many stray persons, the "lost sheep" of society. Many a separated family has been happily reunited through the tireless efforts of Army search.

There is always special solicitude for children, the unwanted babe, the child of neglected parents, the waif of the streets. There are Homes for boys and girls in which mothering care and early education are provided. The aim is to place these children eventually in carefully selected foster homes.

In summer the Army maintains Fresh Air camps at various points in Canada, where children, other-

Settlement of thousands of European immigrants on Canadian land is being planned by the Canadian Pacific Railway's immigration department according to an announcement by H. C. P. Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

Calgary Society was always a source of amusement for Bob Edwards and in his issue of the Calgary Eye Opener of November 10, 1906, he describes some of the highlights of the current social season. The marriage of one of the famous McGonigles and the career of Percy Browne are included in the social notes. The editor of High River's first paper was usually quick to take a poke at the Old Country as is seen in his article on the Scottish Royal family. He also minced no words when dealing with politicians, both local and those farther afield.

Society Notes

A delightful pink whiskey was given Wednesday evening at the hostelry of the Hon. John Moseley, the eminent Conservative leader. The evening was spent in games of progressive blackjack, the prizes being boozonnières and charming cigars. An elegant time was had.

A pretty wedding took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, the contracting parties being Peter J. McGonigle and Miss Iphigenia B. Johnson. The ceremony took place in the drawing room which was decorated with chrysanthemums and ferns. The bride looked sweet in her wedding gown of white chantilly lace and open-work hosiery. The veil was arranged over a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom was attired in an elegant jag and created roars of laughter at the dejeuner by his espiègerie and abandon. The happy couple left for Banff where they will spend their honeymoon and the remainder of the groom's wad.

A jolly afternoon tea in honor of Miss Phyllis Malone, who has been visiting the Pipkins and is about to return to her home in Brockville was given by Miss Eunice B. Potter. Miss Potter received her guests in a lovely polka-dot frock of mouseline de soie, with separate chemisette, and charmed all with her svelte bonhomie and bewilderling tout ensemble. Miss Malone wore white soft silk and lace with tucks down the back and flounces.

Warn Farmers Re Feed Stocks

Alberta farmers were warned recently to build up seed and feed stocks immediately, as these supplies might be short later.

The warning, issued by the field crops branch of the department of agriculture, said: "Farmers in Eastern Canada purchase large quantities of seed and feed from the west. Since the Alberta crop now being harvested will move rapidly to eastern points, those who need feed and seed should build up their stocks immediately. There may be considerable difficulty in obtaining seed later in the season and feed may not be available in the amount needed."

Major-General Worthington will retire from the army on Sept. 30. Gas ration is abolished in Britain though cars will be used only for essentials. Public dinners will be curtailed. After Oct. 1 foreign currency for the purpose of pleasure travel abroad will be suspended.

around the waistline. She looked very chic. A delightful afternoon was spent in informal chatter. A little bird whispers a rumor of the charming young guest's engagement to a prominent young business man of Calgary and a general hope has been expressed by those in the know that he will do the right thing by the girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Roy Browne sent out cards this week for a reception in honor of their son, Percy, who has just returned from New York. Percy's career is of more than ordinary interest. He started life in the big city, unknown and practically penniless, being too proud to borrow from his parents. He stood off a merchant for a basket and then obtained credit for enough tinware to fill it. With this he started peddling. That is ten years ago. Today, Percy ain't worth a bean and still owes for the basket.

The Chaucer club will meet next Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Stockwell P. Dudley, when the "Story of the Three Clerks" will be discussed. A paper on Rabelais will also be read by Miss Rose Ewing Seiditz, one of last season's charming debutantes. Tea will be poured by Miss Tottie Dudley who is to come out this season.

The musicale given by Miss Beatrice Platt last Thursday afternoon at her charming residence passed off with great éclat. Dr. Pirie sang "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" with fine effect, while Mr. Howells played the "Arkansas Traveller" on the violin, with considerable verve and diablerie. All the numbers on the program were greatly enjoyed. Tea was poured by the ineffable Miss Platt herself, who, later on, led in an interesting discussion on the relative merits of Handel and Offenbach.

Scottish Royalty

Verily the genealogy of Royal personages, to whom we bow down in an ecstasy of illogical superstition, is tangled up in a queer mess. Read this:

"Robert II, of Scotland, was first married to a girl of the name of Elizabeth Mure of Rowallan. He had no children by her after his marriage but there were no less than eight born previously to the ceremony; that is to say, out of wedlock. At no time previous to the reformation would such a marriage, even with Papal dispensation, have been held by the law of Scotland to have legitimized the birth of the offspring previously born. Yet it is from these illegitimate children of King Robert II of Scotland, Elizabeth Mure of Rowallan that all the Stuarts and Guelphs who have since reigned in Scotland and Great Britain are descended."

Political Notes and Comments

The Ashdown campaign for the mayoralty of Winnipeg would be greatly simplified if Jimmy's name started off with the third letter of the alphabet instead of the first.

It is about time for the loving friends to be gathering about the sick chamber at the city hall. The council will die pretty soon, if not shortly. By next month it will be in extremis, and it is expected that it will take fifteen or twenty priests to grant absolution that will fit the enormity and multitude of its sins. A silver thimble has been donated by Pat Burns to receive the tears of the distracted citizens. Requiescat in porko.

Alderman Stuart, the worst fizzle of the bunch, is going to run for mayor. This is pure cheek. Under the circumstances no alderman of the notorious 1906 council except a case-hardened insurance agent, slopping over with gall, would have the impudence to seek the suffrages of the people for this high office. Stuart has been the silliest member of the weakest council Calgary has had to endure for years, and the sooner he and chuckleheads of the same class are relegated to the obscurity where they belong the better it will be for the city.

Frank Oliver's picture appears in the War Cry (Toronto, Oct. 6) being right in the middle of the report of General Booth's sermon delivered at Dartmoor prison to nine hundred convicts. Oddly enough, the words immediately above the portrait are "Some sinners are bigger than others," while underneath reads "Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior." Pretty tough, Frank.

10 Bush. Quota On Wheat Crop

The Wheat Board announced recently that a 10-bushel delivery quota had been placed on wheat all over the west.

Ten-bushel quota per seeded acreage will apply at all receiving stations except three "open" stations in Manitoba, 519 in Saskatchewan and 189 in Alberta. Grain men believe that, generally speaking, these open points are in areas of small crops where the average yield will not run more than 10 bushels.

List Open Points

Open points in South Alberta include Cardston, Foremost, Warner, Etzikom, Irvine, Jefferson, Manyberries, Nemiskam, Bow Island, Seven Person, Whitla, Winifred, Woolford, Whiskey Gap, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat being milling centre are also open points.

At all other stations in South Alberta the delivery quota will be 10 bushels per seeded quota throughout the West.

Must Store Grain

As a result of the announcement unless it is amended shortly, a lot of wheat will have to be binned on the farms in southwestern Alberta where average yield of around 10 or 20 bushels are expected. Much, of course, will depend upon whether harvest weather is good or not. If good weather prevails from now on a lot of the wheat will be straight-combined in which case it will move to the elevators immediately, or would have done so had there been no quota order. — Lethbridge Herald.

DOUBLE VICTORY FOR CHAMPION AT HILLCREST

The Champion baseball team journeyed to Hillcrest on Sunday, Sept. 14, where a double-header with the Hillcrest Senators was played. The day was perfect and the invigorating mountain air seemed to spur the Championites on to a double victory.

The first game got under way at 1 p.m. and was won by Champion with a 8-5 score. Batteries were: Champion, Siler to Long; Hillcrest, Bianchini to Paul.

The second game started at 5 p.m. and Champion found itself scoreless at the end of the sixth inning, while the Senators had six runs chalked up. Then the Champion boys took the big stretch for a seventh inning rally and came through with five runs, repeating with the same score in the eighth inning. Senators gained two more runs in the eighth and the game was called at the end of this inning owing to darkness. The final score was Champion 10, Hillcrest 8. Batteries: Champion, Chelton to Long; Hillcrest, J. Alick and C. Rhodes to Vejprava.

The two teams will play a return engagement at Champion next Sunday, Sept. 21. The first game will start at 1:30 p.m. and the second at 4:30 p.m. (standard time).

OFFICERS ELECTED AT HOME & SCHOOL MEETING

The Home and School Association held their first meeting since June, in the basement of the Public School, Monday, Sept. 8. Mrs. W. Everson presided.

Mr. A. J. Maisey of Kirkcaldy, trustee for this district in the Macleod School Division, was guest speaker. His subject was "The Large School Unit". A question period followed. Dissatisfaction was expressed regarding the inadequate transportation afforded the rural children, also the need of one more teacher in the high school.

Election of officers was held, the following being elected unanimously: Mr. C. Versluys, president; Mrs. T. Carlson, first vice-pres.; Mrs. W. Everson, second vice-pres.; Mrs. B. McDonald, secretary; Mrs. F. Watts, treasurer; Mrs. B. Hummel, membership convener; Mrs. T. R. Edwards, program convener; Mrs. W. Keenan, refreshment convener. The teachers were given a hearty welcome.

Mrs. T. R. Edwards turned in a grand total of $187.08, the proceeds from the booth at the two-day Lions Celebration.

A delicious lunch was served to bring the evening to a close and the second Tuesday evening of each month was decided on for the regular meetings.
